

'Awakening the Senses' art project exhibition

Kendal College Art students are exhibiting their work inspired by the new sensory path under construction in the new Bezon Fields public amenity area in central Kendal. The sensory path will 'awaken the senses' of visitors enabling them to reconnect with nature. A range of art work will be exhibited including creative designs from a collaborative workshop held with Stramongate Primary school children and pieces which the students have developed in their own specialist mediums

We would like to welcome you to this exhibition hosted by Kendal College Art Students that has been inspired by Bezon Fields our new riverside public amenity and environmentally enhanced area in central Kendal.

Where: Wildman Street Gallery, Kendal, LA9 5AY
When: Saturday 18th March 2023, open between 10am and 4pm

Project background

The aim of the Kendal Flood Risk Management Scheme is to not only protect people and properties from flooding, but to create a lasting benefit for the community and the local environment. We plan to enhance the river corridor throughout the extent of the scheme through extensive landscaping, planting, and integrating a number of art features. Bezon Fields is a site which has inspired us to create an area designed for exploration, discovery and play. Set on the riverside, this area provides improved habitat and opportunities for children and families to reconnect to nature. A key feature of this area is an art inspired nature trail designed to awaken your senses to Kendal's wildlife.
